The Eagle Scout rank is Scouting's highest award. This Candidate has spent several years developing skills through experience in the Scouting Merit Badge program. Two important outcomes of his experience should be character development and citizenship training. These young men must gain a good sense of values as they grow to manhood. Scouting wants these young men to be citizens in whom the community can be proud.

At prior intervals in the Scouting program, the Candidate has had reviews of his growth and progress. Now he must show sufficient development to merit the Eagle Scout rank.
